Ethos

In third class's weekly timetable, they integrate the Learn Together curriculum into various subjects and activities to promote inclusive learning and holistic development. For instance, during their morning circle time, we explore themes of ethics, diversity, and citizenship through storytelling and discussions. In language arts lessons, they incorporate texts that celebrate different cultures and perspectives, fostering empathy and understanding. Additionally, in third class art and music sessions provide opportunities for students to express themselves creatively while exploring themes of identity and community. The staff also allocate dedicated time each week for reflection and mindfulness practices, nurturing a sense of interconnectedness and respect for self and others. Through these intentional integrations, third class, staff and pupils alike, are striving to cultivate a learning environment that promotes social awareness, critical thinking, and compassion among our students.
